

Assistant Professor of Chemistry
Tufts University
School of Arts and Sciences

The Department of Chemistry at Tufts University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level. Applicants with research programs representing all sub-disciplines of chemistry are welcome to apply. The Chemistry Department at Tufts is a well-funded and accomplished community of researchers with collaborations spanning the globe. Excellent resources are available, particularly for interdisciplinary research in chemistry at the interface with the life sciences, and chemistry with applications in materials and/or energy – both areas are strengths at the department and university levels. Teaching responsibilities will include graduate and undergraduate courses in chemistry related to the candidate's field of research. Additional information about the department can be found at <http://chem.tufts.edu>.

Qualifications: a Ph.D. in Chemistry or related field, a demonstrated potential to develop an internationally-recognized research program, and excellence in teaching.

All application materials must be submitted via Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/44080>. Applications should include a CV, research plan, and teaching statement. Please have three confidential letters of recommendation uploaded to Interfolio directly by your references.

Evaluation of candidates will begin October 16, 2017 and continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position may be directed to Deborah D'Andrea, department staff assistant for the Chemistry Faculty Search Committee, at debbie.chemoffice@tufts.edu.
