

The Department of Chemistry at Indiana University (<https://www.chem.indiana.edu>) invites applications for two non-tenure track lecturer positions in biochemistry, chemical biology or organic chemistry starting in Fall 2019. These appointments will be considered at the level of Lecturer or Visiting Lecturer. The Visiting Lecturer position will be for a 2-year period. Successful candidates will teach lower-level undergraduate courses in general chemistry and upper-level undergraduate courses in their areas of expertise. Candidates must hold a Ph.D. in chemistry, biochemistry, or a related field, and applications from candidates with prior teaching experience are especially encouraged. Salary will be competitive and commensurate with experience. Applications completed by December 15, 2018 will receive full consideration, but the review will continue until the positions are filled. Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae (emphasizing teaching experience), and a statement of teaching philosophy as a single PDF file, and should arrange to have three letters of recommendation sent to (<http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/7064>) Questions regarding the position or application process can be directed to: Professor Martha Oakley, Chair, Faculty Search Committee, Department of Chemistry, Indiana University, 800 E. Kirkwood Ave., Bloomington, IN 47405, chemchair@indiana.edu. The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars. Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status.
