

Next Prof Science - Future Faculty Workshop

The University of Michigan will host Next Prof Science, May 6 – 9, 2019, to encourage talented scientists and mathematicians with a demonstrated commitment to diversity to consider academia as a career. The workshop is aimed at helping participants develop strategies that will strengthen their ability to pursue academic careers. The workshop is targeted at scholars ready to take the next step -- postdoctoral fellows and advanced doctoral students. Underrepresented minorities and women are especially encouraged to apply. Travel, lodging, and meals will be provided for those selected to participate. Deadline for submission of all application materials is February 3, 2019.
